

LADIES! LADIES!

Wait for the largest and most stylish stock of

Dry Goods, Millinery and Shoes

Ever Brought to Jefferson.

Our buyer who is now in New York has waited to be the last to visit the markets and for two good reasons.

FIRST. To avoid the first stuff thrown on the market.

SECOND. To be able to see and secure what really will be the most stylish goods for the coming season.

Do not make the mistake of buying the first goods offered you, but be wise and wait until you see what this old and reliable firm has gathered together for you to select from. Yours for low prices and stylish goods,

Death of Prof. G. Frank.

We are called upon to chronicle the death of one of our oldest citizens, Prof. G. Frank, which occurred at the family home on corner of Benner and Alley streets early Sunday morning, Sept. 2nd, after a lingering illness of several months in his 72nd year. Prof. Frank had been a citizen of Jefferson 39 years, and was a musician of unusual ability. In life he was generous, upright, and universally esteemed by all. His kind and familiar face will be sadly missed by all, and many a sympathetic tear will be dropped in tender remembrance of him who all loved. May he rest in peace.

The funeral services were held at the residence at 10 a. m. Monday, conducted by Revs. L. A. Burk and D. B. Hale in a very impressive manner, after which the remains were laid to rest in Oakwood cemetery in the presence of a large crowd of sorrowing friends and relatives.

To the wife and son and other relatives we extend deep sympathy. The following relatives were here: Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Turner, Dallas; F. H. Frank, Thurber; F. Patillo and wife, W. James and sister, Miss Oka, Marshall; L. A. Kelsey, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis, Texarkana.

The pall bearers were: W. H. Mason, W. R. Kennon, T. L. Lyons, E. H. Dobbins, J. A. Fiedler, and J. H. Rowell, Sr.

It is the Talk of the Town.

What is? The immense stock of fall goods that A. Ripinski & Son are receiving daily. Never was such a large stock in Jefferson before, our main reason in buying in such large quantities is to undersell all which every one in the city and surrounding country knows to be a fact, and then our large trade demands it.

RIPINSKI & SON.

The public school will open on Monday the 17th. All pupils should start the first day. It is thought means will be devised to run the school nine months.

THE WEATHER, ETC.

FOR THE MONTH OF AUGUST 1900.

Summary of Daily Observations.

Average maximum temperature—91.78°
Average minimum temperature—73.58°
Mean temperature of month—82.68°
Highest temperature at 3:00 p. m. 96° on the 21st, 22nd, 23rd, and 26th.
Lowest temperature at 3:00 p. m. 84° on the 6th.
Highest temperature at 6:00 a. m. 80° on the 24th, 25th, and 26th.
Lowest temperature at 6:00 a. m. 68° on the 27th, and 28th.
Warmest day, mean temperature, 88° on the 25th and 26th.
Coolest day, mean temperature, 78° on the 6th, and 28th.

The mean temperature for the months of June, July and August was the same to within a small fraction of a degree—increasing from June to August. The mean for the last half of August was about two degrees higher than the first half.

The prevailing winds were southerly—as follows:—From N. to N. E. on 5 days; from E. to S. E. on 17 days; from S. to S. W. on 9 days; from W. to N. W. none. On the 26th, at 3:00 p. m. a high wind storm, from the north, lasting only a short time, and followed by a very light shower. On the 27th, at 10:50 p. m. almost a tornado, also from the north, struck us furiously. The wind was terrific for about an hour. This was followed, as on the previous occasion, by a light rain. The effect of these two "northerly" in moderating the temperature was not as great as was hoped for and expected.

There were no cloudless nor totally cloudy days. The average cloudiness—sunrise to sunset about 4.10 being totally cloudy.)

There was rain, more or less, on 13 days; giving a rainfall of 3.20 inches. There was no rain between the 12th and 25th,—being the longest time without rain during this year, so far.

The following table gives the mean temperature and rainfall for the months of August, 1891 to 1900, inclusive:

| Year | Mean Temp. | Inch. Rain. |
|---------------------|------------|-------------|
| 1891 | 80.73 | 2.10 |
| 1892 | 80.11 | 4.10 |
| 1893 | 80.11 | 1.00 |
| 1894 | 79.12 | 5.70 |
| 1895 | 82.71 | 1.40 |
| 1896 | 85.55 | .75 |
| 1897 | 83.93 | .75 |
| 1898 | 82.24 | 4.55 |
| 1899 | 86.58 | .25 |
| 1900 | 86.08 | 3.20 |
| Average for 10 yrs. | 82.22 | 2.38 |

Yours truly,

JOHN M. SMITH.
